Fire rescue in tall dorms possible here

By Debbie Pearson

If one of Eastern's high rise residence halls becomes engulfed in flames, persons can be rescued from any of the top floors through the window.

Charleston Fire Chief Mel Taylor said Monday, "We can bring people off the top floor of all the dorms from the outside through the window."

Of the five firetrucks owned by the city, one has a ladder which will reach 100 feet, he said.

However, the city fire department does not have the ability to bring someone down from the roof of all the dorms, Taylor said.

The aerial truck, which was purchased by the city about 10 years ago, has been partially subsidized by the University.

Taylor said the University has paid an estimated $4 per student per year in the past for fire protection services.

In addition, each of the firetrucks is equipped with 1,500 feet of water hose.

Last summer a test was done in Lawson Hall to check the stand pipes system, to which fire fighting equipment is hooked, in the dorms.

At that time the system was also pressurized and the firefighters tested the system from basement to the roof in Lawson Hall.

All dorms must be inspected regularly, but the systems need only be pressurized once every five years, Bruce Michael, university safety officer, said Tuesday.

When the system was tested slides were made of the indoor procedure, which was followed in the same manner as if it had been a real fire, Michael said.

The slides have since been shown during demonstrations in several of the residence halls, Michael said.

He also explained that by next Sept. four sets of slides on emergency evacuations and procedures will be completed by the University Safety Committee for showings on campus.

One of the slide sets will be an explanation of tornado warning and evacuation in the dorms, he said.

Although the residence halls are presently not required to have storm evacuation drills, they may be in the future, Michael said.

The Board of Governors has already ruled all state schools should have emergency evacuation plans but Eastern's plan has yet to be devised, he said.

Senate still ponders enrollment increases

Marilyn Vise

Terry Weidner Tuesday presented two alternatives currently being discussed by President Gilbert C. Fite's ad hoc committee on finding ways to deal with increased enrollment.

Weidner, Faculty Senate chairperson, presented the alternatives to the senate at a meeting.

The first alternative suggested to the committee would reduce contracts of level 1, 2, 3, and 4 administrators, Weidner administrators are divided into four levels Weidner explained. Level one is the presidents, level two the deans and deans, level three the assistant deans and level four is faculty assistants and executive assistants Weidner said.

The suggestion is to reduce the 12 months administrative contracts by one-half month, Weidner said.

The second alternative was suggested by the committee and would reduce the administrative units by about 20 per cent Weidner said. This suggestion would free faculty who are currently teaching holding administrative posts for teaching, Weidner said.

A faculty member's work load is shared by units and those holding an administrative position as well as a teaching position are given units for both.

Weidner said the suggestion would not do any good unless it would put people back into the departments that are understaffed.

The ad hoc committee considering enrollment problems consists of Jimmie Franklin of the History Department, Wayne Owens, director of Institutional Research and the chairpersons of all major faculty councils.

In other business, the senate voted unanimously to table a motion made to reject proposed changes in the tenure policy.

The proposed changes are;

— A probationary period of not less than five years at one's university.

— A tenured-in level at a university to be generally not above three-fourths of the total full time teaching staff.

— tenure review.

The proposals were drawn up by a subcommittee formed by the Board of Governors (BOG).

The motion was tabled until George Rommel, chairperson of the subcommittee on tenure, could attend a senate meeting and explain the proposed changes.

The senate discussed rejecting the tenure proposals because the BOG and the administration is reluctant in making decisions (on tenure) at this time due to collective bargaining.

Teen-aged witness; Hearst 'friendly captor'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Patricia Hearst, once a kidnap victim, smiled Tuesday as a teen-aged witness spoke of her as his kindly captor who comforted him while loading her gun.

Thomas D. Matthews, an affable 19-year-old obviously pleased to see Miss Hearst again, testified that he remember vividly her skillful clicking of a bullet in and out of her rifle while he watched.

Miss Hearst swore in direct testimony

Monday that she never handled a gun near Matthews.

But under further questioning, she said her memory was cloudy and "it's possible" she loaded a rifle in his presence.

Matthews' recollection was far from cloudy as he told again and again of Miss Hearst's concern for his comfort during his 12 hours of captivity by the Symbionese Liberation Army.

"She patted me on the head and asked me if I was all right," he said. "I know she did this at least twice, but it might have been four or five times."

Matthews testified during the second day of a hearing outside the jury's presence to decide whether key pieces of government evidence should be placed before the jury in U.S. District Court.

The government planned to call to the stand three witnesses who met Miss Hearst in her role as "Tania" of the underground.

The witnesses, it was learned, were neighbors in the predominantly black section of San Francisco where Miss Hearst lived for several months.

Invited to meet her by SLA chieftain Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze, the three reportedly have said Miss Hearst looked happy and spoke openly of her exploits as a revolutionary.

The witnesses, who are said to have helped the fugitive group with provisions and cars, were expected to be granted immunity from prosecution before they testify.

Matthews, recalling his night on the run with the SLA, said Miss Hearst told him openly that "she was a willing participant" in the bank robbery with which she is charged.

$10,000 awarded to university for fans in Lantz

The School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation Friday announced that an estimated $10,000 has been provided by the state to install fans in the Lantz Building Gymnastics room.

Walter S. Lowell of the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation said the fans should be installed "before June 30," to improve training in the gymnastics room, where over 300 children attend summer camp in June and July.

Lowell said the fans are a "needed addition to the Lantz Building because of poor ventilation during the summer." At present, only classrooms and offices are air conditioned.

Food service resumes after food poisoning

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) - Limited food service resumed Tuesday morning in a Southern Illinois University dining hall where at least 150 students developing food poisoning symptoms after eating.

"There is little danger of a further outbreak," a school spokesperson said Tuesday. About 4 p.m. Monday students who patronize Trueblood Dining Hall began to complain of diarrhea, cramps and vomiting.

Before the night was over about 150 had been treated at Doctor's Memorial Hospital, the campus dispensary and a makeshift infirmary set up in the cafeteria.

Three students were admitted to the hospital but two were released by Tuesday morning.

Janice Lewis, 22, of Chicago remained and was listed in satisfactory condition.

John B. Amadie, director of the Jackson County Health Department, said officials suspect the illnesses were caused by staphylococcus contamination of food served during the later portion of Monday's lunch hour.

ISSC appropriation bill to be introduced BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP) - State Sen. Harber H. Hall announced Tuesday he will introduce legislation that would provide an extra $2.8 million for the Illinois State Scholarship Commission, which has threatened to cut aid to students by as much as 15 per cent.

Hall said he and Sen. David Shapiro, R-Amboy, will sponsor a bill to transfer the money from the state halftime and categorical scholarship fund, which has a surplus, to the fulltime scholarship program.

Hall said such a transfer would not require a tax increase since the money is already in state coffers.

The scholarship commission says an unanticipated number of eligible students have accepted the state scholarships, and aid to individual students may be slashed as much as 15 per cent.

COTE approves prerequisites for Speech Pathology-Audiology

By Mickey Rendok

The prerequisite revision for the course numbered 4700 (clinical practice) of the Speech Pathology-Audiology Department was passed by the council of teacher education (COTE) Tuesday.

The course prerequisite will now read "speech pathology-audiology 2800, 2830; permission of the chairman of the department." Permission may be denied if the student has not attained a 2.5 overall average and a 2.75 in the major.

The meeting also included discussion on the program revision proposed Peter R. Moody, vice president of academic affairs.

No decision was made by committee on this proposal. The proposal is major enough to be fully," Ron Leathers, chairperson, said.

COTE members were encouraged to discuss the proposal with the faculty represent.

Moody said, "I have received correspondence on the proposal."

However, he said the input he has far received has been favorable.

The proposal revision included 33 semester hours of general education distribution requirements in general education limited to certain courses in humanities, social studies, and math-science.

Crime prevention program slated for Thursday in Union

The Charleston Crime Prevention and Community Relations Bureau will be on campus Thursday as part of the Crime Prevention Week, Feb. 14.

Earl Ashmore, a Charleston crime prevention officer, said Tuesday he will on display a variety of locks and pamphlets to make students aware of the measures they can take to safeguard their department against burglary.

The display will be in the Shawnee of the University Union with views on various aspects of crime prevention to be shown in the Union from 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

Ashmore said he will be on hand to answer questions from students about crime prevention measures they can take. Ashmore said in Charleston, students are the primary victims of thefts and should be especially interested in learning about the best crime prevention measures.

Another primary part of the visit to campus will be to register bicycles, Ashmore said.

For a 25-cent fee, students can register their bicycles with the police department to aid in the recovery of the bike if it is stolen.

Ashmore advised that students must have their bicycle serial number in order to register their bikes.

He said he will also have on display a city map showing bicycle routes which must be followed when riding on city streets.

Beginning in the spring, Ashmore said city police officers will begin ticketing bicyclists for traffic offenses. Bicyclists are subject to the same laws as are automobile drivers, and violation of any of the laws will result in a $3 non-moving violation ticket for each offense, Ashmore said.

Throughout the week, the police department has been holding an open house in a trailer at the southeast corner of the square in which Ashmore is on hand to answer questions. The articles which Ashmore will bring with him to campus Thursday are also on display and films on crime prevention will be shown hourly.

The primary questions asked by visitors to the crime prevention display relate to the type of locks which would be best for someone's particular home, Ashmore said.

Businessmen usually ask how they can reduce the number of shoplifting occurrences as well as reduce the number of bad checks which are written, Ashmore added.

The campus visit is being sponsored by Eastern's Student Senate.

Ford signs compromise budget, expresses deep disappointment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Expressing deep disappointment at a provision prohibiting military funds for Angola, President Ford on Tuesday signed a compromise $112.3 billion defense appropriation.

The measure provides money for defense operations for the 15-month period which ends Sept. 30 and is $8.6 billion less than Ford had originally requested.

It includes money for further development of the controversial B1 bomber and the acquisition of four airborne warning and control system aircraft.

The most controversial section was the ban on U.S. military assistance to Angola where rival factions are engaged in a civil war and where a Soviet-backed group appears to be gaining the upper hand.

"I am deeply disappointed that the Congress has acted in this bill to deprive the people of Angola of the assistance needed to resist Soviet and Cuban military intervention in their country.

I believe this provision is extremely undesirable precedent that could limit severely our ability to play a positive and effective role in international affairs," Ford said.

He said he signed the bill, despite reservations, "because of the importance of the program which are funded by appropriations contained in this bill and the problem which would be caused by a further delay of this legislation...."

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield responded that Ford's criticism of Congress "won't hold water."

"They wanted $28 million more. By now, very likely, they would have asked for $50 million," he said.

Mansfield told reporters he felt an aggressive policy in Angola would be counterproductive.

Contest points out overobsession with sports

The results are in and one of the stupidest contests built around the celebration of America's 200th birthday is over.

When the Bicentennial was getting into full gear about a year ago, the National Football League (NFL) jumped on the bandwagon and ended up with its cleat in its mouth.

It decided to hold an essay contest the theme of which was what the NFL has contributed to the first 200 years of America.

Anna Lieder, a high school student in Alexandria, Va., won the $10,000 first prize, besting such people as historian Henry Steele Commager, who expressed the thought that, heaven forbid, the NFL has played no readily discernible role in the American past.

Lieder, on the other hand, contended sports express a nation's character and football expresses ours.

This and other nations obsessions with sports sometimes gets a bit out of hand as is evidenced not only by the NFL's contest, which bordered on the utterly ridiculous, but also by the Olympic Games which are taking place in Innsbruck, Austria.

That the worth of nations can be measured by the quality of athlete it produces is almost as silly an idea as the NFL contest.

In this day and age when there are wars being fought over the globe and there is hunger and famine running rampant in many of the nations on earth, the main thrust should not be aimed towards whether Russia or Czechoslovakia has the better hockey team but how the problems of hunger, disease and overpopulation can be solved or at least dealt with.

This is not a call for the elimination of all sporting activities. That would be just as bad as the present overemphasis on these activities. People need something to serve as a vicarious outlet from the world's problems but a temporary escape should not be the whole basis for existence.

What is needed is a return to a simpler time when sports were played on Saturdays and Sundays and the five days were spent on worthwhile pursuits.

Sara Lee knows how to get millions for political campaign

"Rep. Bella Abzug said last week that the recent Supreme Court ruling on campaign expenditures would make it harder than ever for women to run for public office.

"The reason, she said, is that most women candidates simply do not have ties to multimillionaires who can put unlimited amounts of money into political advertising under the court's decision."—New York Times item

What Ms. Abzug says is probably true. But there is a certain type of woman who does have access to multimillionaires, and who might decide to run for public office.

The scene is an apartment on Park Avenue. Huddleston Threabody III has just arrived.

"Sara Lee. Where's my little cheesecake hiding?" he yells.

"Here I am, Tiger," says Sara Lee, running out in her black negligee and throwing her arms around him. "Did my Tiger have a tough day at the office?"

"Tiger had a marvelous day. The stock market went up 20 points. The reason I'm late is that I stopped by Tiffany's and bought my little Sara Lee a present." He hands her a box.

She opens it and takes out a diamond bracelet. "It's very nice," she says.

"Nice? It cost me a bundle. Don't you like it?"

Sara Lee takes Huddleston over to the couch and cuddles up to him.

"I don't want jewelry any more."

"A fur coat then! Go to Bergdorf's tomorrow and pick up a fur coat. Anything my little cheesecake wants."

"I don't want a fur coat. I have five already," she says, chewing on his ear.

"A trip? Would you like to go to Paris? I'll say I have to go to Europe for the firm."

"No, I don't want to go on a trip."

"Well, what do you want?"

Sara Lee, as she unbuttons Huddleston's shirt, says, "I want to run for the Senate from New York."

"You want to do what?"

"I want to run for the Senate. It would be a lot of fun and it's something that would make me think of you all the time. Is my big strong Tiger going to let me run?"

"Now wait. Diamonds and fur coats are one thing, but financing a Senate campaign is another."

"I'll bet if that skeleton wife of yours wanted to run for the Senate you'd give her the money," Sara Lee pouts.

"That isn't true. I'm not sure I want to put up money for anyone running for public office. Look, how would you like a new Aston Martin to go with your Mercedes Benz 450?"

Sara Lee moves to the other end of the couch.

"I don't want another car. I want to see my country. If you really cared for me, you'd announce my candidacy."

"I love you," Huddleston protests. "I'd do anything for you. But if I give you the money to run for office, I'm going to have to declare it. My wife is going to ask me why I'm supporting you. Where are you going?"

"I'm getting into something less comfortable."

"Little cheesecake," Huddleston jumps up, trying to grab her. "Would you like a town house instead of an apartment?"

"Unhand me, you brute." Sara Lee pushes him away. "I've never asked you for a thing and when all I want for my itty-bitty self is a chance to run for the Senate you say I can't do it. Well, find me someone else who is more interested in jewels than politics. I'm changing the lock on my apartment door."

"Baby, baby," Huddleston says in a lather. "Do this to me. I can't live without you. You know what these Wednesday evenings mean to me?"

"If you feel that way, then I would think you should prove it with something tangible. How many women ever going to get elected if our good friends don't give us the money?"

"All right, all right. How do I make out the check?" Sara Lee throws her arms around him.

"Just make it out to the 'Sara Lee For Senate Committee.' Oh, Tiger, you're a living doll. Go into the bedroom and talk about my campaign."

'Thou shalt not kill' part of natural law which applies to all

After reading your paper for the past two years and noting that your editorials are consistently pro-abortion, pro-pornography, pro-homosexuality and pro-ERA, you finally decided to give lip-service to the other side of the abortion issue.

I was called by a reporter in the afternoon of Jan. 20 and the next day a garbled account of what I said was printed on the same page with Lorraine Lathrop's bigoted remarks about the dogma of the Catholic Church. I resent this.

"Thou shalt not kill" is not a private dogma of the Catholic Church, but is part of the natural law which applies to all men. On the opposite page of your paper was a long article glorifying the virtues of an abortion chamber.

What I was trying to convey to the reporter was that Justices White and Rehnquist, in their dissenting opinion in the Supreme Court's decision on abortion, called it an exercise in raw judicial power.

They commented that there is nothing in the language or history of the constitution to support the decision; the court simply fashioned and announced a new constitutional right for pregnant mothers.

Kent: life of human being begins at moment of conception

do not refer to handicapped persons as "cripples."

As a registered nurse I learned several years ago that at conception a new human life begins (DeLee's Obstetrics for Nurses, p. 50) and the role of the medical profession is to preserve life.

Since then, great advances have been made in medical science and the unborn baby in the womb has been photographed in all stages of development. We know that by eleven weeks all body systems are not only present, but functioning. Today the womb is the most dangerous place in the world; seven men have franchised the unborn baby of his right to life—he has no choice.

He can be, and is being, searched out and destroyed at any stage during the nine months of pregnancy.

A pregnancy test is done to confirm that a baby is present.

Then a woman is supported in denying that reality (by those who should know better) and in choosing an irresponsible course by ignoring the right of the baby to be born. If abortion is so safe and simple and nobody is harmed, why does Moody find it disturbing some women return for a second abortion?

It seems to me that there is little difference between the extermination of innocent human lives behind the paneled facade of an abortion chamber or a barbed wire enclosure. The end result is the same.

Illinois Citizens Concerned for Life has an educational program with a slide presentation showing the development of the unborn baby and his death by abortion. You can see for yourself the macerated body of a young baby who was "merely sucked" from the womb, by a powerful suction machine. The mortality rate for the baby is 100 per cent.

Our concern is not only for the baby but also for the woman who is the living victim of abortion. Sooner or later she must come to grips with the fact that she destroyed her baby and she really could have made a different choice.

Birtheright, a voluntary organization, offers sympathetic counseling and assists women in facing the reality of their situation and in making responsible choices. This may seem harsh and painful but choosing an irresponsible course almost inevitably will cause more pain later.

Anyone seeking further information about either ICCL or Birtheright can drop a card to ICCL, Box 752, Mattoon, Ill.

Summer study registration form available from Syndergaard

By Jim Dowling

Registration forms for the third annual summer study in Europe program are currently available at the History Department Office, Rex Syndergaard of the History Department said Friday.

Syndergaard, who is coordinator for the program, said that the trip is a great way to see Europe and get college credit at the same time.

Syndergaard said that participants can gain six semester hours in History 3750 and three semester hours in French with permission from the Foreign Language Department.

Syndergaard added that there are no "formal class meetings as such" and that lectures are usually conducted in a park or cathedral.

Syndergaard said that the history course in French civilization requires no prerequisite and is an elective course.

Syndergaard noted that participants

Carter's wife in Mattoon

Rosalynn Carter, wife of Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter, will be at the Mattoon Holiday Inn from 3-4 p.m. Wednesday.

Her appearance will be part of a campaign swing she is making throughout central Illinois for her husband's candidacy in the March 16 Illinois Democratic Primary.

will be able to travel to Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium, Switzerland and Italy.

In addition, Syndergaard said that students will have a railroad pass which is covered in the $970 cost of the trip.

He added that the cost covered room, board and airfare.

Syndergaard will serve as guide for the trip and is well acquainted with the European continent and its landmarks, he said.

Syndergaard said that no paper will be required for the course and that there will be periodic testing and a final exam.

The deadline for applications for the trip is April 1, Syndergaard said.

Interested students can contact Syndergaard at the History Department or address inquiries to him at the department.

You can do it, too. So far over 550,000 other people have done it. People who have different jobs, different IQs, different interests, different educations have completed the course. Our graduates are people from all walks of life. These people have all taken a course developed by Evelyn Wood, a prominent educator. Practically all of them at least tripled their reading speed with equal or better comprehension. Most have increased it even more.

Think for a moment what that means. All of them — even the slowest — now read an average novel in less than two hours. They read an entire issue of Time or Newsweek in 35 minutes. They don't skip or skim. They read every word. They use no machines. Instead, they let the material they're reading determine how fast they read.

And mark this well: they actually understand more, remember more, and enjoy more than when they read slowly. That's right! They understand more. They remember more. They enjoy more. You can do the same thing — the place to learn more about it is at a free speed reading lesson.

This is the same course President Kennedy had his Joint Chiefs of Staff take. The same one Senators and Congressmen have taken.

Come to a Mini-Lesson and find out. It is free to you and you will leave with a better understanding of why it works. Plan to attend a free Mini-Lesson and learn that it is possible to read 3-4-5 times faster, with comparable comprehension.

Political Union to give awards Heart disease program scheduled

By Sandy Pietrzak

An awards contest honoring the greatest and least contributions to improving the quality of American politics is being sponsored by Eastern's Political Union.

Tom Scism, Political Union chairperson, said Monday, that "nominees can be anyone but preferably American."

Nominations will be accepted until March 15, and Scism said the name of the individual and the reasons for his nomination must be submitted.

Nominations should be mailed to Scism, Union chairperson, Political Science Department, Coleman Hall.

Scism said that President Gerald Ford's economic adviser, Arthur Burns, was nominated for the least contribution to the quality of politics due to his remark in which he suggested that a way to end the country's recession is by cutting people's wages.

UB plans weekend coffeehouse

The film 'Daisy Miller' and a coffeehouse with James Lee Stanley, folk-guitarist, have been slated as this weekend's University Board (UB) activities.

'Daisy Miller' starring Cybil Shepherd and directed by Peter Bogdanovich, will be shown at 6:30 and 9 p.m. Friday in the Buzzard Education Building auditorium with a 50 cent admission fee, Ann Ryan, UB movie coordinator, said Tuesday.

Stanley, guitarist and vocalist, makes his return performance in the Rathskellar 8 p.m. Sunday with a 50 cent admission fee, Michelle Zielinski, UB vice-chairperson said Tuesday.

Stanley has performed with such artists as Linda Ronstadt, B.B. King and the Grass Roots. His musical act is interspersed by comedy.

'Love Story', which was originally scheduled for Friday's movie, was unavailable for showing, Ryan said.

The Charleston Community Memorial Hospital is offering a heart disease program from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the hospital.

Pat Jenkins, administrator of the hospital, said the purpose of the program is to "educate the heart patient, his family and prospective heart patients in the care of his body."

The program will be conducted by the hospital nursing department under the supervision of registered nurse Marsha Blair, Jenkins said.

She added that the program has been conducted six times in the past two years which has resulted in a "fairly good turnout with those who have had heart attacks."

Unfortunately, she said, young people who are potential victims do not attend.

Emergency measures to be taken after a heart attack has occurred will also be discussed, Jenkins said.

The meetings will be held in the hospital conference room Monday and Wednesday and in the hospital dining room Tuesday.

There is no fee or registration necessary.

Women's track squad warms up with exhibition meet

By Chris Curl

Eastern's women's track team gets off the ground in an exhibition meet at 1 p.m. Saturday in Lantz fieldhouse with Lincoln University.

Coach Joan Schmidt's squad will be running at intervals during the men's meet.

"It's an unofficial meet, more or less just to get our feet wet," Schmidt said. "We did the same thing last year and were very pleased."

A brand new crop of freshman could be the ones to watch, Schmidt said, adding that she was "pleased with everyone's performance to date."

The Panther mentor cited freshman Mary Hudack (220 yard dash), Bev

Condon (440 yard dash) and Deb Keller and Sue Thomas (discus) as "outstanding."

I'm particularly pleased with these girls and I have a feeling that a lot of the freshmen will be pushing the girls from last year," Schmidt said.

Returning from last season are sophomores Sue Evans (60 yd. dash), Cindy Duncan and junior Kim Davis (440 and 880).

"We were weak in the field events last year," Schmidt said, "especially in the shot."

"We have some real good sprinters," Schmidt said, "but we're still a little slim in the field events."

"However, we have good potential in all the events and that's a comfort," Schmidt said.

Two major events have been added this year, the three mile run and the two mile relay, Schmidt said.

"Many of the schools we compete against have been running cross country," Schmidt said, "which is a definite asset."

Schmidt credits Illinois State as being tough and of course the University of Illinois.

"ISU has four indoor track meets which will undoubtedly help them," Schmidt said.

Currently Schmidt has about 40 girls participating in the program, a figure she says increases noticeably each year.

"Women's high school track is getting better every year and consequently you don't have to teach the girls as much, just get them into shape," Schmidt said.

The Panthers will start the regular season out of the blocks with an April 3 meet against Ball State.

DOONESBURY

Furry named Panther of Week

By Tim Yonke

Based on his excellent performance against Indiana State Saturday the News sports staff has selected basketball center Jeff Furry as Panther of the Week.

It was Furry's baseline jumper with three seconds left if overtime that enabled Eastern to defeat the Sycamores 63-61.

But the six-foot-eight pivotman was not chosen on that merit alone as he also contributed 11 points, 12 rebounds and a pair of steals to the Panther's fifth straight victory.

Head coach Don Eddy called it Furry's "most dramatic game."

"He carried our inside load against three opponents who were bigger or the same size as he was," Eddy remarked.

Eddy said that Furry has been playing well all season and has been pretty consistent, especially on offense.

The senior center is currently leading the Panthers in both scoring and rebounding with 16.5 and eight averages respectively.

Eddy was especially pleased with the dozen rebounds Furry had.

"He got over 1/3 of the team's rebounds," the Panther mentor said.

Eddy and the Eastern coaching staff had devised two or three special plays for Furry to use against Sycamore center Decarsta Webster.

"The first and last scores of the game were special plays," Eddy said.

The final play was an inbounds play designed with Furry as the shooter.

Furry had two choices after the ball had been thrown in. He could either go to the right side of the free throw lane where a single pick was set or to left side where a double screen was set up.

Furry said he chose the right side instinctively "because I like to pivot off my right leg."

After receiving the ball from guard Charlie Thomas, Furry pivoted and took one dribble before canning the shot.

"It felt pretty good when it left my hands," Furry said about his game winning shot.

"It was a really good win," he said, adding, "it was something we really needed."

"We hit a bad spell," Furry said, referring to the Panthers three game losing streak, "but we are now building up momentum."

This is the first time Furry, a three year varsity starter, has ever been named Panther of the Week.

Teamates William Patterson, Derrick Scott and Herb Williams were also considered for the honor.

Patterson led the Panthers with 16 points against Indiana State while Williams had 14 and Scott added eight.

All three players were instrumental in the strong defensive performance applied to the Sycamores.

A trio of track stars were also in the running as Ed Hatch, Toni Ababio and Mike Larson all had outstanding performances at the state indoor championships held at Champaign Saturday.

Hatch, a freshmen, won the 440 yard dash in 48.5 which established a new Eastern varsity record.

Ababio grabbed his first in the long jump with a leap of 23-feet-9 3/4. He also added a third place finish in the triple jump.

Although he finishing second in the mile run to Illinois Craig Virgin, Larson set a new record time of 4:04.9 which broke his previous Eastern record of 4:05.3.

Both Larson and Hatch qualified for the NCAA Indoor Track Meet which will be held in March.

Women cagers to entertain ISU

By Chauncey Blaisdell

Attempting to break a three game losing streak, the women's basketball squad will host Indiana State University (ISU) at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in McAfee Gym.

Beating the Sycamores will be no easy task as head coach Helen Riley has tabbed the contest, "one of our toughest games of the season."

"Indiana State is a very physical team who is also well skilled besides being physical," Riley noted.

"I think we can contend with their physical game," Riley said. "We'll be ready physically as well as mentally for them."

Riley said ISU also has a transfer from a junior college who is a very fine outside shooting guard. Outside shooting guards have tended to cause great problems for the Panthers thus far this season.

Riley said her cagers will be trying something new for the ISU contest.

"We're going to try a half court player-to-player defense to start out with," Riley said, adding, "We're not fast enough to go full court player-to-player." She went on to say she will switch defenses during the game if need be.

"The zone has been our most effecient defense so far this season but I feel we can be effective with the player-to-player," she continued.

Riley said she will go with a starting unit of Rachel Abeln at center, Lisa Williams and Lisa Snapp at the guard slots and Sally Niemeyer at one forward with either Beth Riser or Beth Carpenter at the other forward.

Eastern and ISU have a common opponent in Purdue University with the Panthers succumbing 62-45 while Indiana State whipped the Boilermakers by eight points.

The Panthers will not have much rest after the ISU game as they travel to Greenville to take on Greenville College at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Greenville easily handled Eastern earlier in the year but Riley doesn't see that happening again.

Panthers fight off Northern Iowa 77-69

CEDAR FALLS, Iowa — Eastern's basketball team remained on a winning note as they defeated the University of Northern Iowa (UNI) 77-69 Tuesday evening for its sixth victory in a row.

The Eastern season ledger is now 13-7 while UNI dropped to 4-15.

The contest was closer than the final score indicated as the Panthers held a slim 73-69 lead with 32 seconds left.

But UNI had to foul and Charlie Thomas responded for Eastern by canning two free throws to ice the victory.

Panther William Patterson added a layup after an Eastern steal to make the final 77-69.

The game was tied six times before Eastern could take the lead for good on a three point play by Rich Rhodes with 10:27 left in the opening half.

The Panthers went on a brief tear to give them a 29-20 lead, their biggest of the first half, with 8:32 remaining.

UNI battled their way back into the game as they closed the halftime deficit to 43-39.

Eastern's offense was led by center Jeff Furry as he garnered 12 points in the opening half.

A key moment in the opening 20 minutes was when UNI's leading scorer, center Mark Enright, picked up his third personal foul six minutes into the game.

Enright was forced to sit on the bench for the remainder of the opening half action.

While Enright sat the UNI guard trio of Terry Carroll, Mark Long and Mark Welsh kept them in the game with some long range shooting.

The second half began as tight as the first as neither team could pull away.

Carroll put in a jumper from the top of the key to pull UNI to within 57-54 with 12:32 left in the contest.

Derrick Scott then led a Panther charge with four points as Eastern raced out to its biggest lead of the night 65-54 with 8:09 remaining.

With three minutes to go Eastern coach Don Eddy instructed his Panthers to slow the tempo down and work for a good shot.

A John Day layup with 1:41 left looked like the clinching bucket as it gave Eastern a 73-65 lead.

But UNI fought back with four straight points before Thomas secured the outcome for Eastern.

Scott and Furry led the Panther scoring with 14 points each while Herb Williams and Patterson each added a dozen.

Williams was six out of 10 from the floor and added 12 rebounds to lead Eastern.

Wrestlers return home for Augustana

By Bob Fallstrom

The Eastern Illinois traveling road show will finally return home Wednesday as Panther wrestlers meet Augustana at 7 p.m. in Lantz Gym in only the third home match of the season.

The home encounter, Eastern's first since Dec. 3, couldn't come at a better time. Eastern was beaten twice in a triangular meet last Saturday with Western Illinois and Central Missouri.

Clinton placed much of the blame for Saturday's double-loss on the officials. "They just weren't on top of things," Clinton said.

"The third official just wasn't qualified. His level of competence is zero," Clinton said.

Clinton also blamed three wrestler's injuries on the officials. "They missed a couple of potentially dangerous holds," he said.

Injured are Gilbert Duran (118 pounds), Rick Johnson (134) and Jim Marsh (190). Duran, who suffered a knee injury, will miss at least three weeks.

Johnson's injury, also a new problem, is "not too serious," Clinton said. Clinton said he expects Johnson to be out of action for a week to 10 days.

Marsh suffered a recurrence of his dislocated elbow injury in the first match last Saturday against WIU, and didn't wrestle against Central Missouri. He will wrestle against Augustana though.

Randy Schofield will replace Duran in the lineup. Alphonso Pearson will sub for Johnson.

The remainder of the lineup will remain intact, with Ralph McCausland continuing at 142 in place of injured Tom Rounsavall.

Joe Tschannen will attempt to return to action after missing a few weeks with a sprained ankle. Tschannen will challenge Jim Holtwich for the 177 pound spot.

Jim McGinley and Rudy Reuttiger will challenge again at 158.

Augustana is strong in at least three weight areas—118, 134 and 167 pounds, Clinton said.

"They made a good showing at the Millikin Invitational at those weights," Clinton said.

The meet, which costs 50-cents for students, will be preceded by a little league wrestling bout.
